

12-D GNOMON RESONATOR

CLAIM

What I claim to be my invention is a rotating body that provides by the strict dimensions of of its physical construct, derived mathematics and means of fabrication a rotating gnomon indicating that critical moment when the dynamics of the device are in highest possible resonance with that source of power the continuum subtends.